New ConTex-Commentary - issued:		20.10.22
Although the pace has slowed a little bit compared to the last few weeks, both in terms of percentage and absolute point losses, the New ConTex continued its downfall with an over 10% decline. The decline was similar throughout all sizes. The numbers do however show one interesting development as for the sizes of 2500 TEU and larger the 12 months indication is about 25% higher than the 24 months values whereas in the two smallest segments of 1100 TEU and 1700 TEU the difference between 6 and 12 months only amounts to 9% and 5% respectively. In the short term there seems to be no betterment in sight as on top of the already spot vessels, some of which have now been idling for several weeks, more vessels from pretty much all New ConTex sizes are becoming surplus due to service closures on the Transpacific trade lane. In addition, a number of relet opportunities make it more difficult for tramp owners to judge the competition.
