New ConTex-Commentary - issued:	23.03.23
The positive development, that started a few weeks ago, significantly picked up speed during the last week with all size segments in positive territory, some even with gains of over 5%. It seems like the general sentiment has changed as well, as the charterers gave up on waiting for further decreases and now rather focused on securing tonnage before someone else would do so. This development could be seen with the fixture of sevel 1700/1800 TEU newbuildings at much improved rates compared to last done. With the changing mood periods also became longer which is underlined by the larger increases for 1100 and 1700 TEU on the 12 months compared to the 6 months periods. Especially for the smaller vessel sizes the market in the Atlantic had recently been the main driver and most April positions have gone already but the Asian market started to catch up as of late.
