New ConTex-Commentary - issued: 04.05.23

Local and international holidays seem to have influenced this week's activity. On a week on week comparison this week has been less active, however the diminished activity cannot be regarded as a sign of a weakening market. The overall availability in the individual basins is on a balanced level and a sound interest in tonnage can be registered. In a nutshell the current market environment is showing positive sentiment. The New ConTex is reacting moderately on the development and reflecting an increase of 7 points and closing at 841 points. The 3500 TEU segments is benefiting the most and registering an increase of 1,9 per cent week on week, the 1700 TEU's follow suit with an increase of 1,6 per cent week on week. On a monthly comparison, the 4250 TEU can claim the healthiest increase and gaining 16,2 per cent month on month. Both the 3500 TEU as well as the 4250 TEU have been in demand recently meeting a manageable number of available candidates.
