New ConTex Container Ship Time Charter Assessment Index

New ConTex-Commentary - issued:	08.02.24

The New ConTex has continued its upward momentum, gaining another 3.4% w-o-w and 20.3% m-o-m. Activity has been solid this week despite the approaching Lunar New Year festivities in Asia.

Panamaxes and post Panamaxes continue to thrive on the back of strong demand with hire rates strengthening every week.

Also, periods are becoming longer with post Panamaxes now firmly in two years territory and Panamax owners pushing very hard to get there as well.

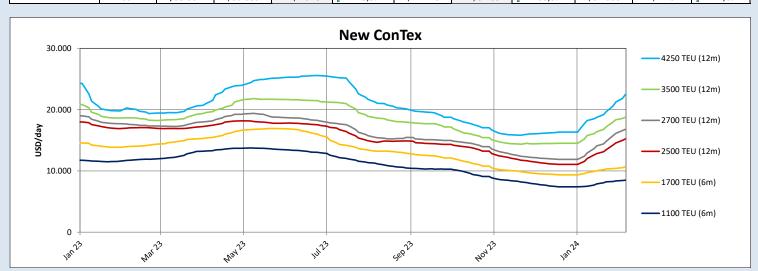

A bit less excitement can be noted in the 2500-3500 TEU segments but conditions still remain very healthy, with the Med and PG areas appearing to be stronger than Far East.

Still lagging behind are the smaller feeders, although also here we have seen solid gains recently with 1100 TEU up 13.4% m-o-m and 1700 TEU up 10% m-o-m. There remains a difference between Atlantic and Asia with the latter usually having to fight with sufficient supply, even though this has improved recently.

Going forward the fate of the charter market during the next weeks and months will certainly be decided largely by the Red Sea situation while at the same time all regional Asian players will hope for the Chinese economy to finally pick up after the Lunar New Year.

Happy Lunar New Year, Gong Xi Fa Cai!
