| Nothing describes an uninspired week for the New Con Tex Index better than an 0,5% reduction. So here you go. Looking at the subindexes it shows that all of them contributed to this uninspired overall result. This result was achieved by the time honored recipe of low activity and slightly dropping rates, the latter thus continuing the trend of the previous weeks. We are still picking up rumors of little sparks of resistance here and there, whose sustainability will yet need to be proven. On of those sparks might be bit stronger demand for eco-units. So, this ends an uninspired commentary, commenting on an uninspired week. Lets change course by having a smashing weekend! Live the dream! | | |
